New Red Cross Ambulance For Carmel

A new Red Cross ambulance, a Pontiac, will arrive in Carmel about March 20, Edgar Bissantz, Chairman of the Red Cross fund drive, announced at meetings held at the Carmel Chapter House on Monday and Tuesday.

The new ambulance will replace the 10-year-old Cadillac which has been stationed at the Carmel Fire House since the late Fred Mylar and Harold Nielsen picked it up at the factory and drove it home in 1949. Ambulance Chairman Bernard Roberts, accompanied by Mrs. Roberts, will fly to Kosciusko, Mississippi, to accept delivery of the new ambulance at the factory and drive it back to Carmel.

The Cadillac will be sent to Carmel Valley, to be housed in the fire house, and operated by Carmel Valley volunteer crews.

The new Pontiac is the third Red Cross ambulance to be operated in Carmel. The first one was put in service 20 years ago.

In making his announcement, Edgar Bissantz paid tribute to the men who conduct the ambulance service.

"Our emergency first aid units are manned by local business men, in Carmel and Carmel Valley, all volunteers. They have acquired skills and knowledge that contribute to the conservation of human life. They know what to do, and what not to do, until the doctor arrives or the patient is transported to medical help. They fill this very essential gap in our communities and are available 24 hours a day."

The following volunteers have served Carmel in the ambulance service for many years: Jack Montgomery, Paul Artellan, Carl Patnude, Maurice Grimshaw, Bernard Roberts, Kenneth Roberts, James Kelsey, Robert Shirley, Gene Ricketts, Art Knowles, Clifford Brown, William Giles, Robert Smith, William Askew, Jr., James Cherry.

Bob Blum, Reporter, In The Good Old Bad Days, Now In Public Relations

By RAYLYN PENNEY

Robert N. (Bob) Blum comes of one of those groups and species which are diminishing, if not extinct already. Like sea otters, whooping cranes and Carmel Indians, the fraternity of old-style West Coast newspapermen has been considerably thinned by attrition and change.

Bob, in the colorful old days, covered the San Francisco waterfront, the many police raids on speakeasies and eight of the executions at San Quentin in the time of the hangman just before the day of the cyanide pellet.

He is an exponent of the two-finger typing system, was once shot in the leg on a routine assignment and was working with the photographer who accidentally dropped a match into a box of flash powder during a reception for Blum's employer of that time, William Randolph Hearst, giving Mr. Hearst the impression that he was a victim of an assassination plot.

In brief, Bob Blum is a prototype of what journalism used to be but will never be again. Like many another newsman of his background, Bob is now a public relations expert specializing in public service work.

A new resident of the Peninsula (since the beginning of this year), he came here as public relations counsel for the tri-county Central Coast Optometric Society, of which Dr. Charles N. Pearson, Carmel optometrist and the society's director of education, is a local representative.

This is the group which has done much to make the public aware of the importance of visual care, spotting and correcting the faulty vision in children, and promoting visual care in industry.

They have also been concerned with eye care as a factor in highway safety and in re-educating sportsmen. Among others, to the fact that yellow is a far better color for wearing in the woods in

Phone Now For Bach Chorus Auditions

The rehearsals of the Bach Festival Chorus will start on Tuesday evening, March 10. As before, Angie Machado and Gilbert Boyer, choral assistants to Sandor Salgo, conductor, will be in charge of these preparatory rehearsals.

In contrast to former years, auditions for the chorus will be held at the beginning of the rehearsal period instead of in the spring. These audtions will be held on Saturday and Sunday, March 7 and 8 by Mr. Salgo at the residence of Angie Machado, Santa Fe and Fifth.

A new policy is being inaugurated aimed toward a higher standard, and only those accepted in the auditions will be in the Festival Chorus.

The two major choral works to be performed are: The Mass in B Minor and Handel's Saul.

Books will be given out at the auditions and also a rehearsal schedule. Former members of the chorus are urged to attend the auditions, as well as all new singers who wish an opportunity of singing in Carmel's 22nd Bach Festival.

For audition appointment and details, telephone Miss Machado, MA 4-4166 after 6:00 o'clock in the evening.

Dates for the Bach Festival are July 20 through 26.

Donald Teague Wins Watercolor Award in New York Exhibition

Carmel Painter Donald Teague, N. A., won first prize in the watercolor division ($250) of the 134th Annual Exhibition of the National Academy of Design, which opens today at the Academy Galleries, 1083 Fifth Avenue, New York.

The exhibition contains 132 oils, 46 sculptures, 47 drawings and prints, and 30 watercolors.

Teague, a member of the Carmel Art Association board of directors, and 1955 president, has exhibited in the Metropolitan Museum, the Chicago Art Institute as well as in galleries throughout the west and south, while he has done many illustrations for Saturday Evening Post and other national magazines.

He is a consistent award winner, one of his paintings, Chioggia, winning first in the Society of Western Artists Annual Exhibition in San Francisco, then taking the Newcastle Memorial Award in the 1955 annual American Watercolor Exhibition at the National Academy.

Marjory Lloyd Candidate For School Board

Marjory Lloyd (Mrs. Frank Lloyd) announced this morning that she will be a candidate for one of the two vacancies on the Carmel Unified School District board, in the May 19 election. "Teachers, parents and businessmen have asked me to run for election," she told us. "I would like to serve on the board."

Mrs. Lloyd is the second to file. Gordon Campbell, chairman of the board, filed last week for a third term.

Mrs. Julian von Meier, whose term expires with Campbell's, has decided not to stand for re-election.

Born in Kent, England, Marjory spent her childhood in England, Newfoundland and Canada. She attended Westmount Schools in Montreal, graduated from Macdonald College School for Teachers, McGill University, and taught in Montreal and Westmount Schools for three years. She and Frank Lloyd, who was raised in Carmel, met at McGill, and after their marriage came for a year's visit in Carmel, in 1933, where Frank's parents, Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Lloyd, had had their summer home since 1911.

In 1935 the Frank Lloyds came with their children to live here permanently, and the following year, Jennefer, their eldest, entered Sunset kindergarten.

"So we've had children in Carmel schools for 23 years . . . with two years to go."

Daughters Lucinda and Mardi are in Carmel High School, Lucinda a senior, Mardi a sophomore. After graduating from Carmel High School in 1949, Jennefer attended Stanford. She is now married, has two small sons and is living in Menlo Park. Skip, who was a 1952 graduate of Carmel High School, graduates in June in law from the University of California.

A member of the P.T.A. for 23 years, Marjory has been room mother "at least once for each

Council Reverses Planners In Gas Station Decision

With a 3-2 vote Tuesday night, the Carmel City Council reversed the planning commission's approval of a gas station as an accessory use in the underground parking lot of the proposed Carmel Plaza.

Councilmen voting to overrule the planning commission's o. k. for the gas pumps were Allen Knight, James Buffington and Gunnar Norberg. Planning commission decision supporters were Mayor John Chitwood and Tom May.

This is the first official set-back for Leslie Fenton's planned four-level commercial development of the block bounded by Ocean, Junipero, Seventh and Mission Streets. The Plaza is planned for Bank of America, I. Magnin's, a 71-unit hotel, a restaurant, and five shops on the Ocean Avenue level; 10 other shops, a coffee shop, hotel lobby in an arcade between the parking lot and Ocean Avenue levels. Multiple dwelling uses are planned for the second stories of

Planners Ponder, Pout Over Council's Gas Pump Ruling

In study session yesterday afternoon the Carmel Planning Commissioners tangled with central district development plans. Thrown into confusion by the previous evening's action of the city council which reversed the commission's Fenton block gas pump decision, see story on Page One, this issue, commissioners pondered and pouted about "what to do about central district planning."

"The central district is a vacuum in the Master Plan," Building Inspector Floyd Adams told them. Some means to discover a policy for a new zoning ordinance for the business district must be found was his opinion.

City Clerk Larry Rose stated that, in denying the Fenton Plaza gas pumps, the council had established a conflict with central district planning now being done. At present, in the plan under consideration, C-2 uses will be permitted in the C-1 zone. Tuesday's action showed the council as a whole does not favor this policy. Both recommended broad planning by commissioners for the central district as suggested in the Master Plan rather than present detailed planning by the chairman's committee. Everyone felt that previous meetings between council members and the chairman's committee of the commission had failed to show the council's policy for the central district. Chairman George Willox said he was "tired of fighting windmills."

Commissioner Herbert Blanks opposed any change in planning action. He recommended that the report of the Chairman's committee be sent to the council as a progress report. The council could then give advice on the report; embodying their desires for the cen-

Mayor Chitwood To Dedicate Askew Memorial Plaque

In a simple ceremony Wednesday morning at 11:00 o'clock Mayor John Chitwood will dedicate a memorial plaque which will be placed in the rockwork of the planter at Junipero and Sixth Street.

The plaque will read:

"William L. Askew, Street Superintendent, 1938-1958, A Builder of Streets, A Planter of Trees, A Man of Carmel."

A young pine, several dwarf cypress shrubs, some agapanthus bulbs and a border of primroses have been set in the planter.

KING CITY MUSTANGS AT PADRE GYM FRIDAY NIGHT

With their backs to the wall and outmanned at every position, the King City Mustangs invade the Carmel pavilion tomorrow night in a go-for-broke effort to keep the Padres from cinching the 1958-59 B-division CCAL basketball championship. The undefeated Carmel quintet has a two-game bulge on Coach Rowland Dickey's King City squad and figures to repeat the convincing win racked up the first time around. Even should the Mustangs come through with the upset of the year, they would still have Gonzales ahead of them before they could claim a share of the title and the weak Pacific Grove Breakers would have to stun the classy Padres.

King City looked good in posting a 62-48 win over Pacific Grove last Saturday night but everybody has been taking shots at Marty Baskin's boys this season. While the Mustangs were drubbing the Breakers, Coach Dan Yurkovich's front-running Padres were winning a no-contest affair from the Live Oak Acorns. Coach Dan figures to shoot his Big Five, Russ Wise, Dale Dawson, Frank Wallace, Dennis Peavey and Bill Hicks against the challenge of the second-place Mustangs.

Carmel's lightweight squad is still in the thick of the fight for the limited title and could get a slice of the championship by clipping King City and Pacific Grove in the final two games. Coach Joe Lorincz has brought the Padre Babes along in big-league style and they are capable of dumping any of the lightweight squads in the league.

Starting for the Babes in Friday night's joust with King City will be Mike Draper, Mike Dunham, Bud Cunningham, Al Dahlstrand and Jim Brown.

Carmel's undefeated junior varsity will open tomorrow night's action when it entertains the King City reserves in a 5:30 o'clock game. The jayvees are undefeated so far this season and need only to get over King City and Pacific Grove to have an unblemished record in junior varsity play.

Most of the boys on this year's jayvee squad will move up to the varsity next year and the winning habit established by this squad will be valuable to next year's varsity. Ron Faia, Toby Edson, Tom Green, Doyle Clayton and Fred Bucher have been drawing the starting assignments for the jayves but Jim Aitken, Mike Cook and Paul Rice have been playing good ball as replacements for the starters.

PADRE CAGERS CLIP GONZALES AND LIVE OAK

Coach Dan Yurkovich's Carmel High varsity just about sewed up the Coast Counties Athletic League B-division basketball title in its last two outings by rubbing Gonzales, 67 to 55, and walloping Live Oak, 63 to 35. Dennis Peavey, usually a devastating defensive player, had on his shooting clothes against Gonzales, pouring through 19 points on nine field goals and one charity toss. Dale Dawson contributed 13 points to the Carmel win and Frank Wallace found the range for 11 markers.

Live Oak was no match for the championship-bound Padres as the Carmel reserves took over for most of the second half and continued to pile up a comfortable winning margin. Dale Dawson was top scorer in this one, closely followed by Dennis Peavey and Russ Wise. Dale bucketed 18 points while playing half the game and 15-point efforts were written in the book by Russ and Dennis. Chris and John Wilkin played their best basketball of the current season and they are certain to make their mark as full-time varsity players next season.

Carmel's lightweight squad divided a pair of crucial games, winning at Gonzales, 36 to 26, to avenge an earlier loss to the Spartan Babes, and losing at Live Oak,

Music On The Peninsula

By Mary Lindsay-Oliver

Andre Kostelanetz, dynamic man of the Music World, desired to use music as a medium of conveying the magnificent spirit of our country and commissioned Aaron Copland for a portrait. Copland's first impulse was for one of Walt Whitman, but Kostelanetz convinced him that "a political figure of world stature would be the wiser choice." The wisdom of this has been rewarded by the international renown of the Copland Lincoln Portrait. I was fortunate to hear a performance of great distinction given it at the San Francisco Opera House Saturday, with the 81-year-old Carl Sandburg as guest narrator with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra directed by Kostelanetz, to whom the work is inscribed.

Famous for his poems and other writings on Lincoln, Sandburg had given a moving address to Congress on Lincoln's birthday just two days before. The booming voice, amplified, carried over the impressive points of Lincoln's words above the composer's setting which is filled with an atmosphere of the prairie. The packed house rose to its feet to honor, not only the performers, but the stirring words of Lincoln that are as applicable today as when first uttered.

Saint Saen's Overture to his opera La Princess Jaune—a Japanese theme that antedated The Mikado, and Rimsky-Korsakoff's Scheherezade filled the first half of the program, with Samuel Barber's Intermezzo from his opera Vanessa, and Ferde Grofe's Mississippi Suite adding up the conductor's offering of American composers.

On Sunday evening, Frederick Swann, who shares with Virgil Fox the organist's position at the great Riverside Church in New York, was heard in recital at St. John's Presbyterian Church in Berkeley. Recently a newly-installed instrument, it is strong enough for a cathedral but ready for a larger auditorium planned. Swann's performance of early works as far back as Dunstable's Agincourt Hymn of about 1400 up to a German Orelchoral of 1909 was brilliant, especially in the Bach Fugue in E flat and the Verne Carillon de Westminster. Fox' Recital at Salinas two years ago will be remembered, for those organists are two of the best in the country.

Separate Tables, Opening Here Friday Has Strong Cast

Fine acting is promised on Friday evening at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre. The cast of Separate Tables, Terence Rattigan's penetrating drama of lonely people in a resort hotel, includes such names as Edward Kuster, Florence Venn, Betsi Pye and Babs Richardson, all in richly-detailed supporting roles.

Pebble Beach is represented by Gertrude Chappell and Kate Firestone, the former a regular Circle performer; the latter newly-arrived from England, where she danced in the Royal Ballet.

Rattigan's play is above all an acting piece, and the strongest possible cast has been assembled to surround the central characters, played by Flavia Flavin and Morgan Stock.

Joy Ware, Georgene Dovolis and John Clemons round out the cast.

Settings for the production are the work of Mrs. Stanley Cummings of Morse Drive, whose wide experience in various fields of applied art has led her into theatrical design for the first time. Separate Tables begins her tenure as a regular member of the Circle Theatre staff.

The second play in the Golden Bough's current subscription series, Separate Tables will play through March 29.

Understanding To Present Girvin In Santa Cruz Lecture

Calvin Girvin will be presented by Unit 9 of Understanding, an inter-world peace organization, in a lecture Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock in Santa Cruz at Town House Hotel, 429 Pacific Avenue. No admission charge.

Mr. Girvin claims many strange outer-space experiences beginning with a very strange one that changed his life when he was a U. S. soldier in Korea.

The Saturday night, 7:00 o'clock Art Linkletter program, People Are Funny, will feature spacecraft and flying saucers. Mr. Girvin will appear; also, Dan W. Fry, founder of Understanding.

Dr. Swezy Reports On Korean Relief Project To Wayfarer Auxiliary

BY L. LUCILE TURNER

Caring for the homeless orphans in Korea is still a project the need of which will continue for years to come, says Dr. Olive Swezy in a report to the Women's Auxiliary of the Church of the Wayfarer. According to Bishop Tibbetts of the Methodist Church in California who spent two months in Korea last year, 200 babies are abandoned on the streets of Pusan every week. It is these children who fill the orphanages which are too many in number to receive adequate care from the Korean government, and must depend on outside aid for more than the barest necessities.

The Committee for Overseas Relief at the Church of the Wayfarer has been carrying on relief work among these orphanages for the past eight years, sending from one to two tons of clothing to them each year. During the past year these supplies were sent to two orphanages. Before that time they were given to many people, including a children's hospital, a clinic, several orphanages and some needy families.

Mrs. Yang's Home for Girls shelters 120 girls, ranging from pre-school to college age, all of them orphans with no other place to call home. Some of them are refugees from North Korea. It was started 12 years ago with seven girls. During these years the number of girls grew rapidly and soon outgrew their first home, forcing them to take shelter in a cattle shed, the only place available large enough to house them. From this they moved into tents where they spent two years under great hardship and finally into their present home — houses built by money raised largely by Mrs. Yang herself. They are now comfortably housed with sufficient land for gardens, chicken houses, etc. But their location means that the girls must walk five miles to attend college and schools in Pusan.

The greatest necessity here is for money to pay tuition fees and other school expenses for the girls. With the aid of two laborers and the girls themselves, they grow all their own food, with chickens, ducks and pigs, but school requires money. The very large item of clothing for so many girls has been partly met by clothing from our boxes.

The girls are given Christian training and education and are kept in the home until they are married or able to go out as self-supporting young women. At the last report there were 14 girls in college, 20 in Bible school, training to become Christian teachers, and the others were in the grade schools. Mrs. Yang is well educated and a long-time Christian.

Mr. Park's Home for Crippled People has 100 inmates, half of them children, the remainder adults, both men and women. He, too, is well educated and a Christian who, while still a captain in the Korean army during the war, felt that he must do something for the great number of cripples on the streets of Pusan. These were old people as well as children.

His first "home" for them was under a cement bridge. Publicity in this country, mainly in the New York Times, brought in money enough to build adequate housing under the direction of the American-Korean Foundation, with land for gardens, etc. Two years ago the foundation was disbanded and he was left alone to support his large family.

Church World Service provided a number of sewing machines, some of the women are able to knit articles for sale and the Auxiliary sent Mr. Park $115 to buy pigs and a goat, all looking towards making the home self-supporting. The people here are all crippled in some way, many of them war casualties. The children, who are able, walk the few miles into Pusan to attend school. The others are taught at the home.

During the past year more than one ton of supplies were sent to these two orphanages. These consisted of clothing, blankets, yarn, yardage to be made up, and 168 children's garments and a number of quilts made in the sewing room.

Work such as Mrs. Yang is doing in Korea where, by Christian training, education and example, the homeless waifs of the streets were gathered up and transformed into self-respecting Christian young women, ready to go out into the community as Christian teachers or to build Christian homes, is surely one of the most worthwhile projects calling for our aid. Mr. Park's home is equally valuable in providing help for the helpless and Christain hope for the hopeless.

SIGNS OF THE 3 PISCES FOR FEBRUARY 20 TO MARCH 20

STORY AND LINOLEUM BLOCK BY HOWELL ARMOR

The Fishes, sign of the Zodiac for February 20 to March 20, like the Twins, the Scales, the Archer, the Goat-Fish, suggests early ideas of man's dual nature, his struggle, his need to weigh his thought. Were the ancient students of philosophy laying the foundations of psychiatry?

The Zodiac is an imaginary belt in the heavens, 16° broad, including the paths of the moon and principal planets, with the Sun's path, the Ecliptic, as its center line. Called by the ancients the Circle of Animals, the starry constellations in it were imagined to represent animals, humans or gods of mythology or religion.

PISCES, the Fishes, the astrological sign from February 20 to March 20, was the last of the procession in the sky, for the next, Aries, is the sign of Spring, the new year. This was the delineation of Ptolemy, but the Sun has moved North of the celestial equator at the Spring or Vernal Equinox in the Sign of Pisces since the beginning of the Christian Era. This portent is obvious, for the vesica piscis or sign of the fish has long been a symbol of Jesus of Nazareth. He lived in a land where fish were a staple food. He chose fishermen for disciples. He performed the miracles of the loaves and fishes and the draught of fishes. The fish was used as a secret sign by early Christians, an acrostic in Greek, describing Our Lord, forms the word "fish."

Isis was shown bearing a fish, feeding the people with fish from the Nile. The sign is shown as Ichton, a fish-god. The fishes are said to swim in the water of life flowing from the water-jar of Aquarius. The ancient Hebrews regarded Pisces as the sign of Simeon and Levi, and as their own constellation. It is the sign of the Feet, of Travel.

Always shown head to tail, it represented man's indecision, the necessity to strive constantly against the current of life, lest you be carried downstream to destruction. Last of the Winter signs, Pisces is the harbinger of Spring and new life.

Boyer Students In Sunday Recital

On Sunday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock a recital by pupils of the Carmel Studios of Music will be held at the Monterey Peninsula USO. The public is invited to attend. Compositions to be played are the Bach Toccato in D major by Herbert Myers and Bach's Aria and Eight Variations from The Goldberg Variations by Katy Fry; Chopin's Waltz in E-minor by Patti King; A Haydn Sonatina by Jean Israel, Playera by Granados by Anne Hagemeyer and the Second Partita of Bach by Carol Crumpley.

Others playing various compositions are Nancy Roberts, Holly Garcia and Jon Hagemeyer. These young people are students of the Carmel Studios of Music, Gilbert Boyer, director. Assistant instructors are Margaret Aitkenhead, Jane Moore and Eiko Yoshizato.

Weygers To Show His Tidepools, Beaches Color Slides Feb. 25

At Sunset Auditorium, February 25, at 8:00 o'clock, Alexander Weygers, Carmel Valley artist, sculptor and engraver, again will present his color slides with the sea as the subject matter in his Tide Pools and Beaches. The beauty of form, tonal values and color and design are revealed in their real and abstract qualities, as the artist views sea weed, shells, sand, etc. through his camera. Instead of the sculptor's chisel or the engraver's burin, Weygers takes up the camera, and using only ordinary daylight, discovers aesthetic and technical qualities most beautiful and rare.

In addition to showing to packed houses on the Monterey Peninsula, Mr. Weygers this month has shown to an audience of 1,200 at Stanford University and will be presenting his lecture-show at the Academy of Sciences Auditorium in Golden Gate Park on February 19, his San Francisco premiere.

Also, in the San Francisco Bay area, he is scheduled to show at the Oakland Auditorium Theater under the auspices of the East Bay Photo Dealers, at the San Francisco Century Club, the Los Gatos Art Association and others.

Public Invited To Free W.A.C. Series On The Arab World

Fletcher Dutton, president of the Peninsula chapter of World Affairs Council, has announced the first meeting of the new study series on the Arab World, to be held Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock in Parish Hall, All Saints' Episcopal Church. This will be one of a series of seven lectures on this subject, arranged by Mrs. Howard Clark, program chairman, and will be given in co-operation with the Carmel Adult School.

A discussion period will follow and the public is invited to attend without charge.

The speaker, Howard Koch of the Middle East Section of the Hoover Institute at Stanford University, has chosen for his subject United States Policy Toward the Arab Nations. He is Senior Researcher on the Soviet Treaty Project, having made a content analysis of some 1,000 Soviet treaties in terms of principle of law and treaty subject matter. This analysis is the first of its kind undertaken.

With Dr. Jan Triska, Mr. Koch has co-written an article on Asian-African States and International Organization for the winter issue of Review of Politics and has contributed a chapter on modern Syria and Lebanon to a college text now in preparation on the Balkans and the Middle East. He is presently working on his doctorate in history, his area of specialization being the Arab World.

A dinner honoring Mr. Koch has been arranged by the Council's hospitality chairman, Mrs. C. Tod Singleton, at Cypress West Hotel, at 6:00 o'clock preceding the meeting.

H. S. SKIERS TO GO TO BADGER

Monday is a holiday for the Carmel Unified School District in observance of Washington's birthday which falls on Sunday. As is customary on Washington's Birthday weekend, high school pupils are planning trips to Yosemite for skiing at Badger. They will be accompanied to the snow by parents. The Carmel High School Ski Club no longer sponsors the Yosemite trip. Last year over 300 Carmel students and parents spent Washington's Birthday weekend in Yosemite Valley.

Entries Invited For Bay Orchid Society Watsonville Show

Members of the Monterey Bay Orchid Society, Inc., announce their sixth Annual Spring Orchid Show on March 7 and 8, in the Pajaro Valley Bank at Watsonville.

This is a non-profit venture, sponsored jointly by the Bank and the Orchid Society. The show is solely for the promotion and interest in the growing of orchids with no entry or admission fee, or charge of any kind. It is open to the public.

Plants that will be shown are valued from a dollar or so to a few with values of several hundred dollars each. The event will feature displays by private, amateur, novice and large commercial growers.

Around the World With Orchids is the theme for the biggest little orchid show on the coast. Anyone is welcome to enter plants, there being no membership requirement or fee charged. Those interested should send a card to Lillian Severin, 22570 San Juan Road, Cupertino, California, requesting the show schedule.

Judging will be by accredited judges of the American Orchid Society and the Orchid Digest Corporation, with 30 Silver Trophies to be awarded in addition to ribbons in all classes.

Apparel Register Has Story On The Casual Shop

The West Coast Salesmen's Apparel Register carries an article on Carmel's Casual Shop in its January issue. The story says that Richard P. Richardson's Ocean Avenue shop has "the largest and finest selection of tartans in the United States or Canada." He has women's kilts for sale in 40 different tartans as well as other ladies' tartan apparel and will take special orders for men's tartans, the article continues.

The paper relates how he and Mrs. Richardson(Babs) discovered Carmel on a continental tour and appreciated the casual Carmel life so much that they decided to live here and name their business after Carmel's way of life.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Richardson lived in Canada before coming to Carmel. Since opening his business here five years ago, Mr. Richardson has had to enlarge his shop by the addition of an adjoining cottage in the rear in 1955, the report adds, and that the present volume of his Casual Shop business is almost treble that of the first year's gross, according to the Apparel Register.

In referring to his authentic Scottish tartans, in the trade paper, Mr. Richardson emphasizes that they are not "plaids."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

Man's God-given dominion over the bondage of materialism will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

The Lesson-Sermon to be read, entitled "Mind," contains the account of Christ Jesus' healing of the man "whose right hand was withered" (Luke 6).

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (307:25): "The divine Mind is the Soul of man, and gives man dominion over all things. Man was not created from a material basis, nor bidden to obey material laws which Spirit never made; his province is in spiritual statutes, in the higher law of Mind."

The Golden Text is from Romans (11:34,36) "Who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath been his counsellor? . . . For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever."

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

Ruth Galvin Thornburg, Librarian

When Joanna Espey was eight years old, she wrote a story about rabbits and read it aloud before the members of her class and all the parents who were visiting the school that afternoon. In her small voice she read "'Quiet!' yelled Mrs. Rabbit, 'don't you know your father and I would like to sleep?'" On and on read Joanna with Mrs. Rabbit yelling every remark she made. Years later Joanna's mother, Hilda Espey, used this sentence from her small daughter's composition as the title of a very funny book of family remembrances. For certain-sure this is one you should not miss.

We are vitally interested in books on geriatrics and we have three new ones for you. All three are the result of investigations done by the University of Michigan and their Institute for Human Adjustment. The editor for all three was Wilma Donahue, but all are made up from the researches of a group of scientists working in this relatively new field. The titles are Housing the Aging, The New Frontiers of Aging, and Free Time: the Challenge to Later Maturity. A great deal needs to be done to educate employers and schools on the value of the older worker. Books like these from well-known institutions should do much to further this education, provided the right persons read them. So read them.

Diving for sunken treasure is dangerous work, but healthy work, if one can judge from the photographs included in The Treasure Divers of Vigo Bay, by John Potter. In 1702 a Spanish armada carrying millions of dollars' worth of gold and silver was sunk in Vigo Bay off the coast of Spain. In 1955, a group of young men formed a party to go to Vigo Bay and search for the treasure. They are still searching. This book by one of their number is exciting and worth while for arm-chair adventurers.

Nautilus 90 North goes up this week. The book is by the commander of the North Pole trip of the atomic submarine Nautilus, a young man named William R. Anderson. To explain further this type of undersea craft we also have the Complete Book of Submarines by C. W. Rush. Taken together, these books make informative reading for surface-locked people.

Two books on Russia are Lin Yutang's The Secret Name, and Raymond Garthoff's Soviet Strategy in the Nuclear Age. Two books for thinkers.

How to Remodel Your Home is by the American Builder magazine. The book is illustrated with drawings and photographs giving step-by-step directions which look very helpful.

A really superlative book on primitive art and religion is The Sculpture of Africa by Eliot Elisofen. It has 405 photographs as illustrations. Many of these photographs reveal the surprisingly lifelike quality of the pose of the figure.

Don't forget that we have film and a projector. You may borrow either or both if you are using them with a group of people or an organization. Call the library for booking.

LAST TIME REMEMBERED PERFORMANCE ON WEEKEND

The final three performances of the Jean Anouilh comedy-fantasy, Time Remembered, will be performed at the Studio Theatre in Carmel this week end on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings at 8:30 o'clock. Ruth Warshawsky plays the Helen Hayes role of the zany duchess bent on restoring reality to her melancholy nephew's fancies of a dead ballerina.

Festival To Present Monterey Quartet In Jazz At Sunset Monday

The Monterey Jazz Festival has acquired the former Carmel music series, Jazz at Sunset, as a special Festival Previews series, President Hal Hallett announced last week.

First presentation under the new name will be an appearance by the Modern Jazz Quartet on Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock in Carmel's Sunset Auditorium.

The Jazz at Sunset series, which was the setting for Erroll Garner Concert by the Sea album and appearances by such groups as Dave Brubeck, Oscar Peterson, George Shearing, Cal Tjader, Red Norvo, Duke Ellington, Andre Previn, Ella Fitzgerald and Mort Sahl, was turned over to the non-profit Monterey Jazz Festival by its general manager, Jimmy Lyons, who had presented the original series over the past five years.

This community enterprise, operated by local business men as an area special event, also underwrites special jazz courses in the music department of the Monterey Peninsula College, through scholarships and other gifts from net proceeds.

The Festival group will use the new Festival Previews series as a workshop for various executives and committeemen to give the operational experience for the Festival week end October 2-4.

WILLIAM BISHOP REPORTS

A postcard from Carmelite William Bishop tells of the first lap of his round-the-world trip. He writes that the Orient Line ship on which he is traveling to Australia, "Is very British and I love the atmosphere. I am polishing up on using shillings, florins and pennies. There are so many activities that tire me, such as swimming and dancing, but I haven't the willpower to resist them."

First Theatre's From Rags To Riches With Excellent Pacing And Sparkle, Provides Delicious Fun For Audience

By Max Tadlock

When members of the cast of the First Theatre's current production voted against opening the show on Friday the Thirteenth, they were upholding a respected tradition of superstition in the theatre. But there was no need for such caution in this case. From Rags to Riches would be a success if the actors had to walk under a ladder each time they made an entrance or exit.

It is not taking anything away from a particular fine group of Thespians to say that this play is a natural for melodramatic production. It out-Algers Alger, it puts virtue and innocence to the test, and it proves without the slightest equivocation that blood will tell.

For this superlative vehicle, director Charles Thomas has assembled an equally good cast. As Ned Nimble, the brave and proud young newsie, LeRoy Ottman gave his best performance to date. So, too, with Laverne Seeman, who played his mother, a temporarily fallen woman. Miss Seeman displays an excellent sense of the ludicrous and drew shouts of laughter from the audience.

Janet Fluehr as Ned's sister was a distillation of the purity of budding womanhood. And completing this family group was Jack Muldowney as the shamed father. This gentleman's sense of timing for comedy situation established a new high at the First Theatre in my estimation.

The villains were led by Alex Olivetti as Prince Charlie, who personifies for many Mr. First Theatre. In this performance, as in his others, he exhibited a cozy rapport with the audience that no one else equals. Barbara Ziegweid played his brazen companion, Myrtle, with proper (or should it be improper) zest; and her former boss, the evil one-eyed Slade, was portrayed by Gene Eplett.

It took the rest of the large cast to stay ahead of this evil threesome. Al Olinger led the fight as a tireless Irish patrolman, and was assisted by a former member of "the force," Old Montgomery's valet, played by Paul Hadley. Carl Sesar as Old Montgomery, Prince Charlie's wealthy but noble uncle, died of a broken heart right before our eyes.

Madeline Hicks' Mother Murphy, a foster mother to Ned and his sister, was done with her usual gusto and competence. Joyce Olinger played the honest maid of the adventuress Myrtle, and Ben Fischer completed the cast as the messenger boy.

For excellence of pacing and sparkle you will not see a better performance at the First Theatre.

Space limitations forbid mentioning all the members in the olio, but particularly outstanding were the lyrics by Dee Olivetti for the Gallagher and Sheen number done by Alex Olivetti and Carl Sesar. Marguerite Sewald joined Sherrie Yokomizo in dance specialties to help round out the numbers of the regular cast.

Playing this next Friday, Saturday and Sunday and Friday and Saturday nights only thereafter, From Rags to Riches should have a memorable run.

MPVS Receives Award For $1,000 Aid To U. S. O.

At the eighteenth anniversary U. S. O. dinner on Monday, an award to the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services, in appreciation for $1,000 financial aid to the U.S.O. during 1958, was accepted by Mrs. John O. Simpson, of Carmel, president of the M.P.V.S.

M.P.V.S. members who are senior volunteer workers to the U.S.O., together with their chairman, Mrs. Fenton Grigsby, received citations for service during 1958 for staffing the shop at the U.S.O. from 7:30 to 11:00 o'clock on Wednesday evenings. They were Mrs. Thornton W. Allen, Mrs. Thurman H. Bane, Mrs. Perry Boggess, Mrs. Anderson M. Cannon, Mrs. Henry T. Chance, Mrs. Carl D. Freshwater, Mrs. William F. Hutchison, Mrs. Daphne S. McGurk and Mrs. E. J. Murray, all of Carmel.

Also, from Carmel, receiving this service citation were Mrs. Paul S. Nelson, Mrs. Russell Potter, Mrs. Paul Rockey, Mrs. Dent Sanford, Mrs. Roland W. Scheffler, Mrs. Ilda J. Withycombe and Mrs. Fred S. Wilber.

Mrs. Grigsby, who is vice chairman of the board of management of the U.S.O., as well as M.P.V.S. representative to the U.S.O., stated that these senior hostesses serve in pairs at the U.S.O. shop giving out equipment, pens, stationery, selling candy and gum or are there "just to talk" to the men.

The senior hostesses, also assist at special events as well as giving or being on call for this regular service throughout the year.

MAYERS IN SWITZERLAND

Milton and Jane Mayer are spending the winter in a Swiss village called Gletscherblick while Mrs. Mayer's sons, Rock and Dicken Scully, attend nearby L' Ecole d'Humanite. Milton is writing a book, autobiographical, according to word received by Carmel friends of the Mayers. Jane is taking advantage of the superb skiing in Switzerland.

The Mayers visited Russia last summer for a month and hope to return this spring for a longer stay. This summer they will meet Carmel boys, in Europe to work in Friends' camps, and take the boys on various tours. Hoping to spend this summer in the Friends' European work camps are John Williams, Boz Williams and Lee Harms, all Carmel High School students.

Anita Vesel, Howard Kahn Wed

After a honeymoon in Yosemite Valley and at Lake Tahoe, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kahn are living in Philadelphia. They were married in a private ceremony in Salinas last month.

Mrs. Kahn (Anita Vesel) is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Vesel of Carmel Woods. She graduated from Monterey Peninsula College, where she was Homecoming Queen in 1952, before continuing her education at the University of California in Berkeley. After obtaining her B. A., Anita taught Italian at Cal while studying for a master's degree in comparative literature. She will continue work in Philadelphia on her thesis which discovers parallels in the work of the French poet Baudelaire and T. S. Eliot.

Her father is an instructor in Serbo-Croatian at the Army Language School. Before coming to the Peninsula, Anita lived with her family in Rome for eight years, previous to that in Jugoslavia, where her father was an attorney.

Her husband, Howard, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Kahn of Chicago, Illinois. He graduated in law from the University of Chicago, then studied Chinese at the Army Language School. During the time he was a student here, he met his future bride with whom he corresponded while stationed in Korea, Japan and Europe. He is now studying city planning at the University of Pennsylvania.

Anita has a brother, Milo, who is an industrial management analyst in New York for Smith and Barney. He graduated in 1954 from Columbia University and Harvard Business School in 1956. He spends summers in Carmel with his parents.

Stormbound In Los Angeles

"I'm grounded in Los Angeles," were the first words of a telephone call from Jane Vial to her husband Herb on Monday morning. Sunday evening, friends waved good-bye to her when she left by air for Navajoa, Mexico, with plans to visit the restored colonial town of Alamos before joining Mr. Vial and Louis Conlan in Puerta Vallarta this week. Sunday evening's storm cancelled those plans. Mrs. Vial's changed itinerary included a flight to Mazatlan, then combined bus and plane travel to Vallarta. She arrived at her destination yesterday just ahead of Herb and Louis who left here on Tuesday.

During the Vials' absence, their home will be occupied by friends from the Bay Area.

Woman's Club Talk on Point Lobos

Milton Frincke, supervisor of Point Lobos Reserve State Park, will talk on the natural history of Point Lobos for members of the Garden Section of the Carmel Woman's Club on Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. He also will show slides of the flora at Point Lobos.

Mr. Frincke has a bachelor of science degree in zoology and taught science in Los Angeles secondary schools before joining the staff of the California State Division of Beaches and Parks in 1949.

Tea will be served after the program by Mrs. Samuel Moore, assisted by Mrs. Fred Farley, Mrs. Katherine Lynhardt, Mrs. Jessie Smythe, Mrs. C. U. Fonteneau, Mrs. Maud Sutherland, Mrs. Violet Ballantine, Miss Ethel Taylor, Miss Dorothy Terrell and Miss Ethel O'Connor.

Dr. Pearson Presides

Dr. Charles N. Pearson will be among members of the Central Coast Optometric Society at the 54th Annual Congress of the California Optometric Association. As chairman of the economics advisory committee of the association, he will preside at a breakfast session devoted to the optometric extension program. He will also participate in educational workshops during the four days of sessions which open on February 27 in the Sheraton-Palace Hotel in San Francisco.

Guild Models And Hostesses

Models in the Symphony of Spring fashion show, to be presented in tableaux form on the stage of the Golden Bough Theater on February 27, meet for rehearsal on Saturday morning with Mrs. Nerice Fugate Moore, director of the Symphony Guild event. They are Mrs. Robert Work, Jr., Mrs. Byron B. Blout, Mrs. Roderick L. Dewar, Mrs. Loren A List, Jr., Mrs. James Hatlo, Mrs. Stanley Bailey, Mrs. Wyllis Ryan, Mrs. Jack Stalnaker, Mrs. Hans von Richter, Mrs. Dorothy Hyde, Mrs. F. J. Sparolini, Mrs. Charles Strosnider, Mrs. Louise Reifel, Mrs. John Storm of Salinas and teenagers, Betsy Helm, Wendy Draper, Linda Little, Diane Hassela, Mela Ferrer and Sharon Heisel.

Welcoming Symphony of Spring guests and serving refreshments will be Mrs. Dan King III, Mrs. James Tyson, Mrs. Wallace Holm, Mrs. John Nesbitt, Mrs. Thomas Elston, Mrs. Ralph Hammonds, Mrs. H. T. Stotler, Mrs. George Podbereski, Mrs. Robert McKever, Mrs. Hascal Stewart and Mrs. Edgar Bissantz.

Mrs. Moore, who is donating her time to direct the fashion show for the Symphony Guild, is the owner and director of the San Francisco House of Charm. She produces the seasonal style shows for Fashion Industries and has recently been appointed northern California consultant to the 1959 United States Savings Bond Appeal to Women. With her husband, Carl R. Moore, she spends week ends in the home they recently purchased in Carmel Valley.

Music for the Symphony of Spring show will be a medley of songs from many nations sung by Letty Williamson, accompanied by her husband, Private Marshall Williamson, pianist for the Fort Ord Chorus. Proceeds of the fashion show and musical will be used by the Symphony Guild to support the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra.

Captions, Hearts And Flowers

Carmel Art Association president Leslie Emery and Mrs. Emery greeted 450 guests as they arrived at the Carmel Art Gallery for the Association's Valentine's Day party on Saturday evening, honoring the new board of directors and new association members.

Crazy captions beneath member's pictures on exhibit caught the guests' attention as they entered the main gallery. Each guest was given paper and pencil and asked to write humorous titles for the same pictures. These captions were added to those already on the walls.

The entertainment committee, headed by General Frank Dorn, and consisting of Mrs. Jessie MacGregor, Colonel Mason Wright, Fred Klepich, Mrs. Jeanette Lewis, Mrs. Kathryn Aurner and Mrs. Parker Hall (Maxine Albro) had placed a large placard in the gallery stating they were afraid to exhibit in the current show because of expected party caption comments. Guests added their written reasons to those the committee expressed on the placard.

A red satin ribbon heart surrounded with pink and red carnations centered the punch table. Another table had a heart set amidst red tulips and pink almond blossoms. Hot sausages were served from the table decorated with a large white heart. The shrimp table had a heart centerpiece adorned with real lobster shells.

Invited to the gay affair were all members of the Carmel Art Association and a few special guests.

Carmel Planners Want Hospital Property, Now Up For Zoning Change, Annexed To Carmel City

Two pieces of property, owned by the Peninsula Community Hospital, should be annexed to Carmel, Carmel Planning Commissioners stated at their special meeting yesterday afternoon. This annexation would include the 3.9-acre hospital site and the half-acre site of the hospital annex. The hospital is situated on the northern boundary of the city, the annex just outside the northern city limits.

Commissioners made this suggestion after asking the county planning commission to deny rezoning of the main hospital site from its present R-2 (hospital use) zoning to R-4 or R-4-D uses, which permit multiple dwellings, uses not allowed in Carmel, building heights of 45 feet, more ground coverage and lesser side yards and off-street parking requirements than allowed within the city.

Commissioners also stated that although the hospital board had applied to the county for the zoning change in order to be able to sell their present property for nursing home, rest home or convalescent hospital use, these uses were in no way binding on a future buyer under county R-4 or R-4-D zoning.

To restrict possible undesirable uses of the hospital property, commissioners asked the county planning commission to establish precise development zoning for hospital property. This zoning to prohibit any change of use or construction.

Commissioner Herbert Blanks, presenting the recommendations of the land use committee to the commission, pointed out that the hospital does not pay property taxes as a non-profit organization. There would be no taxation gain or loss in annexation; no added fire protection requirements as the Carmel Fire Department now has an agreement to protect the hospital; no additional load on the police or street departments. The aesthetic value of retaining hospital property in desirable development had "considerable interest for the city," he said.

In proposing annexation of hospital property to the city, Mr. Blanks asked for immediate "staffing out" action by the city administrative committees and staff.

Thomas Tonkin, Peninsula Community Hospital administrator, present at the meeting, said he could make no statement on the commission's annexation suggestion. He said he would submit the Carmel planning commission report to his board of directors which meets on February 25, the same day as the county planning commission.

This morning Mr. Tonkin said that he is sending copies of the commission's action to his board today. Whether or not the hospital tral district plan and zoning, thus framing a policy.

Later he stated, "The city has been losing by not deciding a course of action. Presenting a plan to the general public is hopeless." He was referring to the fact that, in his opinion, the public tended to think plans were accepted facts, rather than suggestions for the future.

Commissioner Florence Josselyn agreed with Mr. Blanks' suggestion of continuing the detailed planning. "Do things and find out," was her suggestion for discovering the council's planning policy for the central district.

Mr. Adams, demurring, stated that the detailed chairman's committee report was "almost a zoning law."

Commissioner Fred Keeble, disagreeing with general planning, suggested a chairman's committee meeting with the city's administrative staff.

City Clerk Larry Rose agreed to let commissioners know next Wednesday when this meeting could take place.

In answer to a question from Commissioner Hugh Smith concerning "the theory of accessory uses," Chairman Willox said, "There is no interpretation of accessory uses at this time."

"We are in a state of flux," commented City Clerk Rose.

Earlier in the meeting, the planning commissioners looked at Barnet Segal's plans for a 10-apartment development on two lots on the northwest corner of Eighth and Mission Streets; a proposed lumber yard for Frank Murphy; a restaurant kitchen on property owned by Harold Nielsen; and reduction in planting area for a motel owned by Ray Berney. They studied the Youth Center auditorium addition in the light of its infringement on a possible future post office site; heard Commissioner Blanks tell them that the "woodsy park" proposal at Carpenter Street and Ocean Avenue is "dead" as the property has been sold for building purposes. Action will be taken at the regular planning commission meeting on Wednesday afternoon.

City Clerk Larry Rose informed them that at their regular meeting next week they must also appoint a new chairman, vice chairman, new committees and present their annual report.

NOT MUCH CASH — BUT A BIG INCOME?

NOT OFTEN do we have moderately expensive houses that can be purchased with low down payments, but right now we have several. Sizes range from two to five bedrooms, some old and some new. Prices range from the middle $20,000's to the high $40,000's. In some cases, we think down payments as low as $2,000 or $3,000 will move you in. Monthly payments, however, will require that your income be substantial..

LOTS IN RANCHO RIO VISTA

THERE IS PRACTICALLY nothing left for sale in this fine residential area, and most of what is left is priced above $10,000. We have three exceptional offerings, however. We have two nearly level building sites of an acre each, with magnificent valley views, at $8,000 each. We have one parcel, containing 1.61 acres, with views of the ocean, Point Lobos, and the Valley. This site is priced at only $8,500.

VERY CLEAN, TWO-BEDROOM HOME. $16,000, LOW DOWN PAYMENT AND IMMEDIATE POSSESSION! Beamed ceilings in the living room and dining room. Light, cheery kitchen. Sunny area; one block to the bus line. We are very enthusiastic about this new listing. Exclusive.

hunting season than red, since yellow can be seen better and farther.

Other members of the Blum family, making their home in Pacific Grove, are Bob's wife Ruth and their son Ron, a junior high school student. Ron, running true to form, is more interested in becoming an engineer than a journalist.

Bob, a native of San Francisco, places himself very accurately in time by saying he's one of those people old enough to remember the Charleston (from the first time around) and still young enough to dance it.

He further says he was born a month and two days before the San Francisco fire—oldtimers never say "earthquake"—and his parents fled with him across the bay in a tugboat from the danger area to the home of friends, where he began his early, displaced life sleeping in a dresser drawer.

After school at the University of California and the University of Washington, where he received a B.A. in English, he went to work on the lobster shift at the Bulletin. "Nothing ever happened on my shift," he says, but five papers in San Francisco made journalism highly competitive then and he remained with the paper long enough to get off the early morning work. After the old Bulletin merged with the Call, he worked for the United Press as "pony" editor, supplying small dailies with condensed releases of top stories, and working with Frank Bartholemew, now president of United Press International.

It was during his service with the San Francisco Examiner that the flash powder incident occurred. Bob says he mentioned it in the first place because it was a sort of turning-point historically. After that famous reception in the city hall rotunda, given by Mayor "Sunny" Jim Rolph for W. R. Hearst, the Hearst papers all started using flash bulbs, then new and untrusted by some, but safer, Mr. Hearst believed.

Bob went to work for the Oakland Tribune in 1936, covering for them everything from a strike, during which he had to phone in his story while wearing a gas mask—or rather while not wearing it for brief intervals in a tear-gas-filled room while he talked to his office—and the Golden Gate Exposition in 1939 on Treasure Island.

During the war he, as a Marine, wrote, directed and produced radio programs in connection with recruiting, and after his marriage in 1943 moved to Seattle, concentrating on public relations work for the Veterans' Administration, the Marine Corps League and the Seattle Chamber of Commerce.

He returned to San Francisco to take a similar job as editor of Bay Region Business on the staff of that chamber and then did public relations with the Air Force.

If he were advising young people interested in public relations as a career, Bob says, he would recommend daily newspaper experience over any kind of schooling. Five years on a newspaper, he believes, teaches the old lessons of fast clear thinking, tight writing and the ability to talk with and understand almost every type of person in the world.

"Hear you got that bug that's going around."

"That bug's not going around. It hit me!"

Why Carmelites are famous for disregarding the weather:

Last Sunday Frank Putnam went out on the ocean fishing in his boat in spite of the tropical storm blowing in from Hawaii. Tom Perry walked on the beach amid the Sunday evening gusts. "I met Hart Law doing the same thing," says Tom, "only he was going the other way, straight into the wind . . . and sand!"

"I was playing the game," says Dale Dawson, "I expected to feel hot, but I was covered with spots when I took off my jersey."

Carmel High School varsity basketball team defeated Live Oak in Morgan Hill on Friday night. During the game, star player Dale Dawson broke out in a German measles' rash. Recovered, he returned to school on Wednesday.

Last winter Carmelites vacationing in Puerta Vallarta, Mexico, named themselves the International White Trash Set. On Sunday when Jane Vial, first member to return to Vallarta, boarded a plane at the airport, she was wearing the official pin of the group, designed and presented to her by Louis Conlan, who, with Mr. and Mrs. F. Robert Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, Mr. and Mrs. Jon Konigshofer, Mrs. Marie Gragg and Herb and Jane Vial, is a charter member of the society. The society's name in white letters is printed around the small enamel lapel pin which identifies members.

Pat on the back this week. Harold Gates, a Carmel resident since childhood, wants everyone to know what an efficient street department we have. Last Monday morning about 3:00 o'clock a tree fell across Monte Verde Street between Fourth and Third Avenues, right in front of the Gates' home.

An hour later the street department had cleared the street to traffic and freed the two driveways involved. Later, when it was light, they returned, sawed up the tree, gave the wood to the Gates, smoothed the ground and tidied up. Except for a fine stock of firewood, says Harold Gates he would not suspect a pine had crashed to the ground in Sunday night's storm.

44 to 34. The Padre lights whipped the Live Oak midgets rather handily in the first meeting this season but ran into an improved club Saturday night.

A stubby Japanese sharpshooter, Mits Nishihara, canned difficult shots from all angles to pump in a game-high of 14 points to spark the Acorn Babes to the win. Jim Brown, Carmel's freshman sensation, hit for 13 and played a sound floor game to keep the Little Padres close to the winners.

Consensus of hoop coaches 'round the league has it that the Carmel junior varsity squad is capable of whipping most of the varsity teams in the loop. Coach Dick Lawitske's jayvees enhanced this opinion by dumping Gonzales, 46 to 30, and clubbing Live Oak, 58 to 23.

Diminutive forward Ron Faia unlimbered his shooting arm in both tilts, shoving through 18 tallies against Live Oak and hitting for 12 against Gonzales. Junior center Toby Edson hit for 21 markers against Gonzales and came back to rack up 12 against the Live Oak unit.

the Ocean Avenue level buildings.

Protesting the planning commission's decision, Attorney Thomas S. Montgomery representing Mrs. R. Ellis Roberts and Lady Claude Kinnoull, stated that an accessory use should be a customary use. "Are gas stations a customary use on parking lots in Carmel?"

Frank Dickson, representing the Carmel Citizen's Committee, which is campaigning against the Fenton Development, said that allowing a prohibited use in the restricted business district, under the guise of accessory use, would open the door to other invasions by prohibited use and would tend to break down the zoning ordinance.

Attorney Eben Whittlesey, speaking as a Carmel citizen, explained that the planning commission was given the power to define accessory use, but it should be guided by the function of the use. Carmel is primarily a residence community, he said, quoting the preamble to the zoning ordinance. This facility (the Fenton Parking lot gas station) is not needed by the community as a whole.

He continued: "The Fenton Development is attractive taken part by part, but the whole development is out of character with the town."

Former City Councilman Carl Patnude produced figures on the gas sales from eight pumps in the San Francisco Plaza parking garage, compared them with the number of parking stalls and four pumps proposed for the Fenton garage and arrived at the conclusion: "Either they (the Union Oil pumps in the Fenton garage) will have to get half their business off the street, or two of the pumps will sit there and rust." The planning commission had justified its approval of the Fenton Plaza service station on the grounds that it was there primarily for the convenience of the users of the parking lot, and not to attract trade from the street.

Daniel Kohlsaat, a fire prevention engineering consultant, said that underground service stations present a fire hazard, and was answered by Francis Palms, architect for the project, who stated that there would be a complete sprinkler system, and pointed out that the service station was at grade level with the entrance.

Mrs. R. Ellis Roberts, Dale Leidig, Rolleston West, Mrs. Josephine Root, Stanley Oakes, Mrs. Raymond Mapstead and several others expressed their opposition to a service station's being permitted in that area.

One citizen spoke in favor of the Fenton Parking lot service station: "This Plaza is designed for luxury trade," Patricia Hall pointed out. "People know they can go to the hotel and leave their car to be serviced, and it will be a great convenience.

"This is a free enterprise country," she continued. "They have as much right to be in business as we."

Gladys McCloud said that she believed that everything said at the hearing was "on an organized basis" and "I do not know if it is truly representative of Carmel. I've heard people say, 'how can they deny it?'"

Carmel Planners Want Hospital Annexed

board would ask for a continuance of their zoning request before the county planning commission he could not say. The continuance, if asked, would allow time for consideration of annexation possibilities by the hospital board.

Carmel commissioners were asked to consider the hospital rezoning matter by the county planning commission. The latter body felt that any use of the property, situated so close to the city, should be a matter of consideration for Carmel planning commissioners.

Carmel commissioners, discussing annexation and precise development county zoning, emphasized that uses suggested in the rezoning application by the hospital board were suggested in the Master Plan. They felt potential uses of the property under a future owner, however, might not be compatible with an area adjacent to Carmel.

City Clerk Larry Rose pointed out that if there are few or no persons claiming permanent residence on the hospital property, annexation of the land to the city would be "a simple procedure."

Also in their special meeting, commissioners changed the length of time allowed for commercial district building to commence after a building permit has been granted. From now on applicants will be allowed three months from the date of issuance of a permit. Formerly time allowed was 90 days. This action eliminates the possibility of a permit expiring before it could be renewed by commissioners. When the permit expires, the whole matter must be reconsidered by the planning commission instead of a renewal granted.

Kustom Kar Kapades Next Week End At County Fairgrounds

The fifth annual Kustom Kar Kapades will take place at the Monterey County Fairgrounds beginning Friday, February 27 and continuing through Saturday and Sunday. This spectacular showing of customized cars draws entrants from all over California and the profits from the event go entirely to youth and other non-profit groups.

Some of the cars cost their owners well over ten thousand dollars to design and develop. Both in the engineering and performance departments, they represent the finest in the world.

Because of the professionally outstanding cars to be on display, there will be trophies for all 55 entrants. The sweepstakes trophy is five feet tall and three other top award trophies all measure over three feet. Two beautiful trophies will be awarded for categories entiled "Miss Elegance" and "Miss Originality." Fifteen other first-place trophies and 34 runner-up awards will be given to the exhibitors. Each contestant will also receive an attractive metal dash plaque.

One of the special features is to be the California State Highway Patrol exhibit of the James Dean death car. This display has been incorporated essentially to stress the importance of safety and driving responsibility. Additional information may be gained by writing to the sponsoring Slow Pokes Car Club, 475 Hamilton Avenue, Seaside, California.
